At the same time, a 4-door coupe with a hard top appeared, the body of which did not have B-pillars. In 1957, the wheelbase increased slightly, the fins "grew", and two years later the last Custom Royal was built. Chrysler was in tremendous trouble, but Dodge kept it afloat by producing common family cars. In the 60s. So, in 1966, five engines with a working volume of 5.2-7.0 liters with a capacity of 230-425 hp were offered, a number of gearboxes and several options for suspensions. Chrysler's cars were significantly reduced in size, acquired front-wheel drive, and Dodge returned to the Daytona Coupe series. Over the years, the only difference between Dodge cars within Chrysler has been trim level and price. Dodge remained one of the most stable firms in North America. In the Dodge RAM manual will find information on: Lubrication & maintenance, suspension, differential & driveline, brakes, cooling, audio, chime/buzzer electronic control modules, engine systems, hor, ignition control, lamps, message systems, power systems, restraints, speed control, vehicle theft security, wipers/washers, wiring, engine, exhaust system, frame & bumpers, fuel system, steering, transmission/transaxle, tires/wheels, body, heating & air conditioning, emissions control system, vehicle preparation, introduction of the vehicle, specifications, etc. Their size increased in subsequent years. the new V8 engines, dubbed the Red Ram, improved their image and became successful in sporting events. The first response from Chrysler was the Plymouth Barracuda. Brakes and handling were common failures by European standards, but without a doubt the Americans loved this car. The first representative of the Royal series appeared in 1954 and had a wheelbase of 3.05 m, but a few months later the more powerful and better equipped Custom Royal series was introduced. In the 70s. The brand steadfastly held on to 6-7th places in terms of sales, usually following the Plymouth, but sometimes pulled ahead. The brand soon joined a group that included Chrysler, Dodge, De Soto and Plymouth. In the 90s. The choice of V8 engines was wide. The dodge RAM is a pick-up produced and manufactured by Chrysler Group since 1981. This step was part of the overall plan. After the release of a number of sturdy but uninteresting cars, known as "reliable Dodge", the company in 1928 found itself under the wing of the Chrysler concern. In the 1955 model year 89304 were sold, in 1956 - 49292 and in 1957 - 55149 Custom Royal. The Custom Royal was typical of those years, expensive and heavy (curb weight up to 1725 kg), large car, well equipped and very fast on straight sections of the road. The renaissance of Dodge's post-war image began in 1952 with the release of a new V8 Red Ram with hemispherical combustion chambers, but it only developed 140 hp. These cars were also frame construction with torsion bar independent front suspension. The company offered several body options. But in the 50s. For the next four years, the model was sold only as a large and spacious 5-seater coupe, and the most powerful possible engine was a 7-liter engine with hemispherical combustion chambers (425 hp).
